Along Came Roman

Debra Messing is best remembered for her role as "Grace" in "Will & Grace," the better half to one of this century's most famous gay couples on television. Brooklyn-born Debra always appears in the "best-dressed" lists, so it's either Will's gay-dar has rubbed off, or it simply reiterates that her fashion sense is divine. She gave birth to son Roman Walker Zelman in Los Angeles last April 7, 2004, and has even taught Roman sign language to aid him while he's learning to talk. Add to that being Rhode Island's Junior Miss 1986, who also owns all of 3 mansions in London—Debra has practically nothing in common with Grace's interior designer, looking-for-the-love character: in real life, she and husband, Daniel Zelman, enjoyed a 7-year courtship before tying the knot. Here, we find Daniel, Roman and Grace out toy-shopping in Santa Monica.
